IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION - READ THE FOLLOWING WARNINGS BEFORE YOU OR YOUR CHILD PLAY VIDEO GAMES

⚠ WARNING - Seizures

Some people (about 1 in 4000) may have seizures or black outs triggered by light flashes, such as while watching TV or playing video games, even if they have never had a seizure before.

Anyone who has had a seizure, loss of awareness, or other symptom linked to an epileptic condition should consult a doctor before playing a video game.

Parents should watch when their children play video games. Stop playing and consult a doctor if you or your child have any of the following symptoms:

Convulsions

Altered vision

Eye or muscle twitching

Involuntary movements

Loss of awareness

Disorientation

To reduce the likelihood of a seizure when playing video games:

1. Sit or stand as far from the screen as possible.
2. Play video games on the smallest available television screen.
3. Do not play if you are tired or need sleep.
4. Play in a well-lit room.
5. Take a 10 to 15 minute break every hour.

WARNING - Repetitive Motion Injuries

Playing video games can make your muscles, joints or skin hurt after a few hours. Follow these instructions to avoid problems such as Tendonitis, Carpal Tunnel Syndrome or skin irritation:

- Take a 10 to 15 minute break every hour, even if you don't think you need it.
- If your hands, wrists or arms become tired or sore while playing, stop and rest them for several hours before playing again.
- If you continue to have sore hands, wrists or arms during or after play, stop playing and see a doctor.

WARNING - Battery Leakage

Leakage of battery acid can cause personal injury as well as damage to your Game Boy. If battery leakage occurs, thoroughly wash the affected skin and clothes. Keep battery acid away from your eyes and mouth. Leaking batteries may make popping sounds.

To avoid battery leakage:

- Do not mix used and new batteries (replace all batteries at the same time).
- Do not mix alkaline and carbon zinc batteries.
- Do not mix different brands of batteries.
- Do not use nickel cadmium batteries.
- Do not leave used batteries in the Game Boy. When the batteries are losing their charge, the power light may become dim, the game sounds may become weak, or the display screen may be blank. When this happens, promptly replace all used batteries with new batteries.
- Do not leave batteries in the Game Boy or accessory for long periods of non-use.
- Do not leave the power switch on after the batteries have lost their charge. When you finish using the Game Boy, always slide the power switch OFF.

RULES_01

HOW TO DUEL

Game play and rules are based on the "Yu-Gi-Oh! TRADING CARD GAME".

DUEL BASICS

Cards

The game contains over 1000 different cards. These cards can be separated into 3 main categories based on their usage.

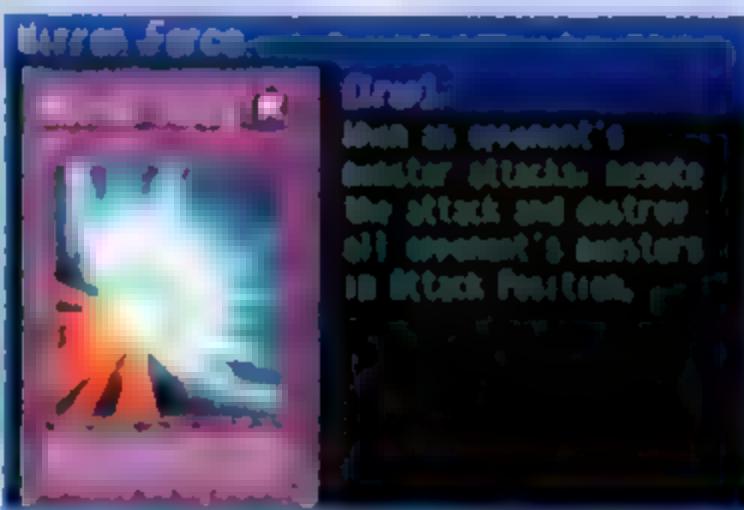

Monster Cards

Monster Cards are used to attack your opponent. There are some extremely powerful cards that must be summoned in a special way and some that have special effects.

Magic Cards

Magic Cards have many various effects such as strengthening monster abilities and changing the field terrain. Use of these cards strongly affects the outcome of a duel.

Trap Cards

Set Trap Cards on the field to use them. They are activated in response to an opponent's monster attack or magic and they neutralize the effects of the attack or magic.

HOW TO DUEL

Duel Field

The Duel Field is where you and your opponent set and throw away cards during a duel. Each duelist has a field like the one shown in the figure below. The two fields are positioned opposite one another. Cards can be placed in the following areas on the field.

FIELD CARD ZONE

Field Magic Cards are placed here.

MONSTER CARD ZONE

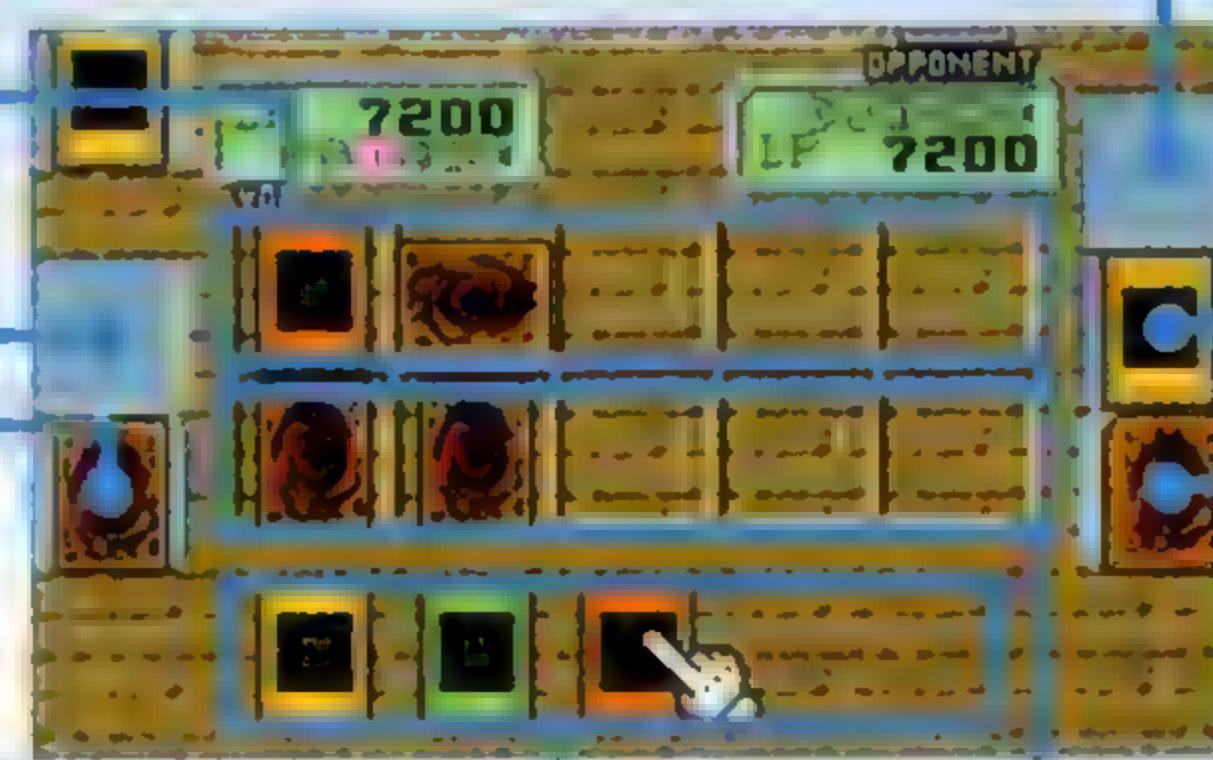

Monster Cards are placed here.

FUSION DECK ZONE

Fusion Monster Card deck is placed here.

HAND

Cards in your hand are placed here. These can be set on the field.

ELIMINATED CARD ZONE

Cards eliminated during a duel are placed here.

GRAVEYARD

Cards that have been destroyed are placed here.

DECK ZONE

Your Main Deck is placed here. 1 card can be drawn from this deck during the Draw Phase.

MAGIC & TRAP CARD ZONE

Magic/Trap Cards are placed here.

HOW TO DUEL

DUELS & MATCHES

- ① Each card battle against an opponent in which one duelist wins or loses is called a Duel.
- ② A Match consists of 3 Duels. The first player to win 2 Duels wins the Match. If 2 Duels result in a draw, the player that won 1 Duel is declared the winner. If all the Duels end in a draw or each player wins 1, draws 1 and loses 1, the Match is declared a draw.
 - * Most battles in this game are one-time Duels. Duel Tournaments are conducted in Matches.

CREATING A MAIN DECK

- ① The cards used in duels owned by a player are called a Main Deck. In this game, a Main Deck must contain at least 40 but no more than 60 non-Fusion Monster Cards. The Fusion Deck is made up of Fusion Monster Cards and may contain no more than 20 cards.
 - * You don't need a Fusion Deck to duel.
- ② In addition to the Main Deck, players may keep an additional 15 spare cards. This is called a Side Deck. During Matches, players may exchange cards from the Side Deck with cards in the Main Deck between each Duel as their duel strategy dictates. When making exchanges, the Main Deck must contain the same number of cards as it did when the Match started.
 - * You can duel without a Side Deck. It is only a group of spare cards for use in a Match.
- ③ Player cards that are not in the Main Deck or the Side Deck are stored in the Trunk. Move cards to and from the Trunk to make a Main Deck and/or Side Deck.

HOW TO DUEL

VICTORY CONDITIONS

Duel outcomes are decided according to the following rules.

- ① Each player starts a Duel with 8000 Life Points (LP). Life Points are subtracted when a player or player monster is attacked and unable to fend off the attack adequately. When your opponent's Life Points reaches 0, you are declared the winner. If your Life Points reach 0, you lose.
- ② If both duelists' Life Points reach 0 at the same time, the Duel is declared a draw.
- ③ If either player's Main Deck runs out of cards, the first player unable to draw a card is declared the loser.
- ④ When a player's Hand contains all 5 of the "Exodia" series cards, that player is declared the winner. If a player holds these cards as a result of the initial draw at the beginning of a Duel, the player is declared the winner at the start of the Duel.
- ⑤ When a player has the "Destiny Board" and all 4 "Spirit Messages" on his/her field, that player is declared the winner.

How to Duel

DUEL FLOW

Duels are played in accordance with the rules and in the following order.

1 Main Deck Preparation

Get the Main Deck organized before the start of the Duel. Make sure that the Main Deck contains at least 40 and no more than 60 cards and that the Side Deck contains no more than 15.

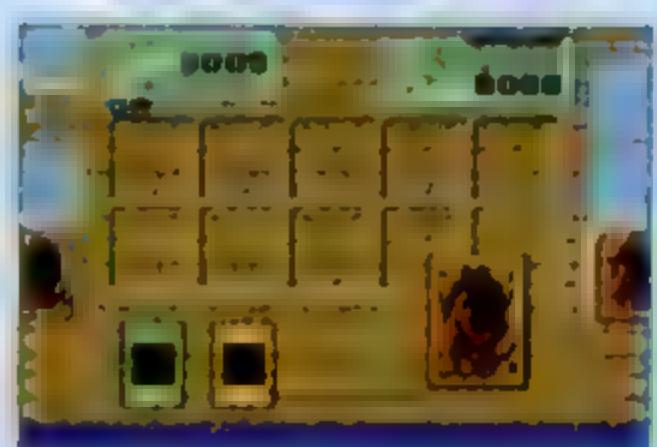

2 Set the Attack Order

Decide which player is the Starting Player that attacks first. The winner of the Rock/Paper/Scissors game makes this decision. During Match play, the loser of the previous Duel decides the order.

3 Draw a Hand

5 cards are drawn from the top of the Main Deck automatically. This becomes the initial player Hand at the start of the Duel.

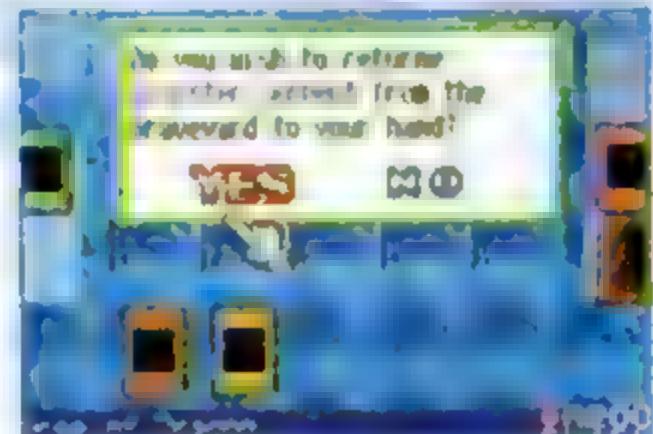

4 Draw Phase

Players draw 1 card from the top of the Main Deck. The Starting Player can draw cards immediately after the start of the Duel.

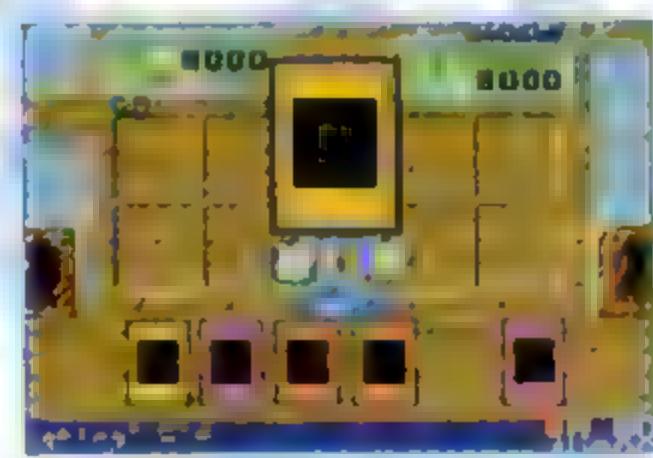

5 Standby Phase

The effects of some Monster and Magic/Trap Cards are activated during this phase. Follow the instructions on cards that indicate actions to be taken during this phase.

6 Main Phase 1

You may set or play Monster and Magic/Trap Cards during this phase. Each card is placed in the appropriate place on the Duel Field. Each duelist may only have 5 Monster and Magic/Trap Cards (not including Field Magic Cards) on the field at one time. Duelists with 5 cards on the field may not discard one of the cards on the field and replace it with a new card. Duelists must find a way to destroy the cards on the field before placing new ones.

▼ Monster Cards

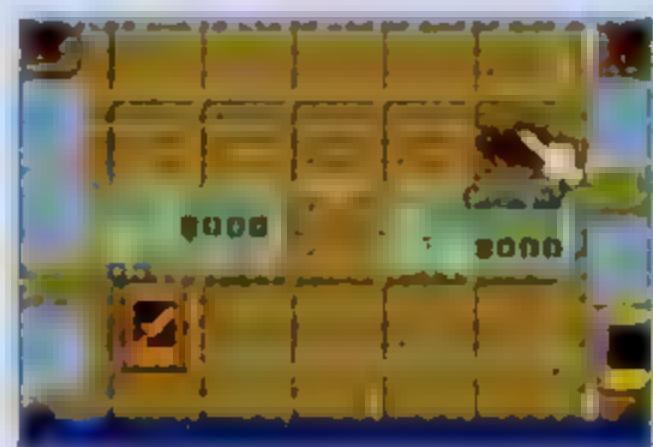

Summoning is the act of placing a Monster Card from your Hand without the use of magic or any other effects. When you summon a monster, you must also indicate a Position for the card. Position the card face-up vertically to indicate Attack Position or face-down horizontally to indicate Defense Position. During a turn in which a monster is summoned, you may not change the position of the card, so think well before choosing. You may change the position of Monster Cards already on the field only once during this phase. Aside from some very special cases, once the position of a card is changed, you may not change it again during the same turn. You may activate the effects of Effect Monsters during this phase.

▼ Magic/Trap Cards

Magic Cards may be set either face-up or face-down. Trap Cards must be set face-down. You may activate the effects listed on the card by positioning the card face-up. Magic Card effects are usually activated when the card is positioned face up and only last for one turn. The card is then destroyed and sent to the Graveyard. Exceptions to this rule include Equip Magic Cards that strengthen Monsters, Field Magic Cards and Continuous Magic Cards. Trap Cards, if they are not continuous, are also destroyed after being activated. You may also perform Ritual Summons and Monster Fusions during the Main Phase.

☒ Battle Phase

Each Monster that is face-up and in attack position on the field can be used one time to attack your opponent. The starting player may set cards on the field during the first turn, but cannot attack. The next player may attack during the first turn. You are not required to enter the Battle Phase. You may move directly from the Main Phase to the End Phase and end your turn.

▼ Monster Cards

You can have any number of Monsters on the field participate in an attack as long as they are in Attack Position (change monsters from Defense Position to Attack Position during the Main Phase before attacking). Attacking monsters will target your opponent's monsters if there are any on the field. (Players cannot normally be attacked directly if there are monsters on the field.)

Here's the procedure for attacking monsters. Upon entering the Battle Phase, you (attacker) select a monster to execute an attack and designate one of your opponent's monsters as a target. If there are no monsters on your opponent's field, your opponent becomes the target. Each monster can only attack one of your opponent's monsters or your opponent, and may only attack once during that turn. After the attack of the first monster you selected is complete, you then select another monster to execute an attack. This procedure is repeated for all monsters on the field in Attack Position, but you are not required to have all of your monsters in Attack Position attack. You should decide when and which monsters to use in an attack based on the situation.

When your opponent's monster in the face-down position is attacked, the Monster Card is flipped face-up. If that monster happens to be a Flip Effect Monster, its effect is activated at that time.

Once a monster is attacked, it is in Attack Position. These monsters are treated just as if they had been placed in that position and cannot be changed to Defense Position during the turn.

Monsters destroyed in an attack or by the effects of a Magic/Trap Card are sent to the field Graveyard.

▼ Magic/Trap Cards

You may use Magic/Trap Cards that are set in the Magic & Trap Card Zone, but normally you can only play Quick Play Magic Cards. You can also play Trap Cards. Use the cards that best fit the situation. Any Magic/Trap Cards that you play are sent to the field Graveyard.

8 Main Phase 2

This phase starts after the Battle Phase ends. Just like Main Phase 1, you can perform Fusion and Ritual Summons as well as set and play Magic/Trap Cards.

You may also summon Monsters that were not summoned during Main Phase 1. You can change the position of monsters if they did not change the position during Main Phase 1 and if the monster did not attack during the Battle Phase.

9 End Phase

You announce the end of your turn during this phase. If your hand contains more than 6 cards at this point, you must send cards to the Graveyard until you have no more than 6 cards in your hand. Your opponent's turn then begins.

10 Duel End

You and your opponent alternate turns starting with the Draw Phase and continuing through the End Phase. The Duel ends when either you or your opponent satisfies the victory conditions.

PHASE FLOW

Phase Flow of the Entire Duel

The following figure illustrates the progression of duels.

HOW TO DUEL

Battle Phase Flow

The Battle Phase is made up of the following 4 steps.

START STEP

Enter the Battle Phase. Both players can use Quick-Play Magic and Trap Cards.

BATTLE STEP

You select one monster to execute an attack and designate one of your opponent's monsters as the target. Both players can use Quick-Play Magic and Trap Cards.

DAMAGE STEP

Attacks are executed and damages calculated. The Flip Effects of monsters are revealed at the end of this step. However, Flip Effects do not affect any monster that has already been destroyed as a result of the damage calculation.

END STEP

You repeat the Battle and Damage Steps. When you can no longer take any actions, the battle is over. Both players can use Quick-Play Magic and Trap Cards.

The cards used in this game can be separated into the following 3 categories: Monster, Magic and Trap. The usage and capabilities of each card vary widely. Use the "Card View" icon during the game to view detailed information about a card.

CARD CLASSES

MONSTER CARDS

Monster Cards are the basic cards used to attack an opponent.

Monster Cards are categorized by Type and Attribute. There are 20 different Types and 6 different Attributes. The difference between Type and Attribute influences how the effects of Magic Cards affect the monster. Level (stars) indicates the overall strength of the monster.

TYPE

EARTH WIND

FIRE DARK

There are several different Classes of Monster Card. Both "Fusion Monster Cards" and "Ritual Monster Cards" must be summoned in a special way and "Effect Monster Cards" have unique effects.

Normal Monster Cards

One Normal Monster can be summoned during the Main Phase each turn. Level 5 or higher monsters can only be summoned by offering either 1 or 2 other monsters as tributes.

Tribute Summon → P.54 "Tribute Summon"

Card color is
DARK-YELLOW

Fusion Monster Cards

Fusion Monster Cards are special cards that are summoned with 2 or more Fusion-Material Monsters and the Magic Card "Polymerization". The basic abilities of Fusion Monster Cards are no different from those of Normal Monster Cards, but the method used to summon them to the field is different.

Fusion Process → P.55 "Fusion"

Card color is
BLUE-VIOLET

Since Fusion Monsters are summoned with a Special Summon, you can use a Normal Summon (or Tribute Summon) to summon another monster during the same turn. Also, when these cards are forced to return to your Main Deck as a result of a Monster Effect, they are returned to the Fusion Deck and not your Hand.

Ritual Monster Cards

Ritual Monster Cards are special cards that can only be summoned with the Ritual Magic Card for a particular Ritual Monster, and enough Monsters for tribute to satisfy a fixed set of conditions. The basic abilities of Ritual Monsters are no different from those of Normal Monsters, but the method used to summon them to the field is different. Read the fixed set of conditions and then follow the instructions outlined on the each card.

Ritual Process → P.56 "Rituals"

BLUE

Like Fusion Monsters, since Ritual Monsters are summoned with a Special Summon, you can summon another monster during the same turn with a Normal Summon.

Effect Monster Cards

Effect Monster Cards are Monster Cards that have special effects. They are summoned just like Normal Monster Cards. The effects can be broken down into the 5 main categories, but the effects vary widely depending on the card. For details, view the detailed information on each card.

Card color is
ORANGE

▼ Flip Effects

The monster's effect is activated when the card is flipped from face-down to face-up. The effect is also activated if the card is flipped in response to an attack or the effects of magic.

[Flip Effects → P.59 "Flip Effects"]

▼ Continuous Effect

This type of effect remains active for as long as the card is face-up on the field. The effect stops as soon as the card is changed from face-up to face-down.

▼ Cost Effect

This type of effect is activated by discarding your Hand or by paying Life Points (LP). Associated costs vary with each card.

▼ Trigger Effect

This type of effect is activated when direct damage is inflicted on your opponent or when some other specific requirement indicated on the card is satisfied.

▼ Multi-Trigger Effect

This type of effect can be activated during an opponent's turn. Discarding the card from your hand during the Battle Phase activates the effect. "Kuriboh" is an example of this type of card.

Tokens

Effect Monsters and Magic Card effects can cause "Tokens" to appear in the Monster Card Zone. These Tokens are not Monster Cards. You can set Attack/Defense positions for and attack these Tokens, but Tokens cannot be used as offerings for summoning monsters. Tokens disappear when they are destroyed. They are not sent to the Graveyard.

CARD CLASSES

MAGIC CARDS

There are many different types of Magic Cards. With the exception of Quick-Play Magic Cards, you can only use Magic Cards during the Main Phase of your own turn.

* There are exceptions to the rule; "Curse of Fiend" can be used during the Standby Phase.

Normal Magic

As long as the card does not have a "Continuous Icon", it is destroyed immediately after it is activated. "Raigeki" is one example of a powerful Magic Card, but there are many other powerful cards.

* There are exceptions to the rule: "Swords of Revealing Light" remains on the field for 3 turns.

Card color is
GREEN

Equip Magic

These cards are used to equip monsters. They remain on the field continuously, but are destroyed when the monster equipped by the card is destroyed. It is possible to equip a monster with more than one Equip Magic Card.

[Using Equip Magic → P.58 "Equip Magic Cards"]

Field Magic

These cards are used to change the terrain of field. The field terrain affects the abilities of the monsters on the field, altering the ATTACK and DEFENSE strengths.

[Using Field Magic → P.58 "Field Magic Cards"]

Quick-Play Magic

These special cards can also be played during the Battle Phase. As long as the card has been set on the field, you can activate it during your opponent's turn.

Polymerization

These cards are required to summon Fusion Monsters.

Fusion Process → P.55 "Fusion"

Ritual Magic

These cards are required to summon Ritual Monsters. Each card can only be used to summon the monster indicated on the card.

Ritual Process → P.56 "Rituals"

TRAP CARDS

Once set on the field, these cards can be activated at any time after the start of your opponent's next turn.

Normal Traps

As long as the card does not have a "Continuous Icon", it is destroyed immediately after it is activated. It cannot be played during the same turn in which it was set.

Counter Traps

This type of trap is activated as a counter move to an opponent's summon or magic and cancels out the effect of the summon or magic.

Card color is
PURPLE

DETERMINING DAMAGE

The following rules are used to determine the amount of damage inflicted on a monster during a duel.

■ Your Opponent's Monster is in Attack Position

When you attack a monster that is in Attack Position, damage is determined by comparing the ATK(Attack) Points of both monsters.

Your ATK Points > Opponent's ATK Points

When the ATK Points of your monster are greater than those of the monster you're attacking, the monster you're attacking is destroyed. The difference in ATK Points is subtracted from your opponent's Life Points.

Your ATK Points = Opponent's ATK Points

When the ATK Points of your monster are equal to those of the monster you're attacking, both monsters are destroyed. There is no effect on the Life Points of you or your opponent.

Your ATK Points < Opponent's ATK Points

When the ATK Points of your monster are less than those of the monster you're attacking, your monster is destroyed. The difference in ATK Points is subtracted from your Life Points.

■ Your Opponent's Monster is in Defense Position

When you attack a monster that is in Defense Position, damage is determined by comparing the ATK Points of your monster and the DEF(Defense) Points of the monster being attacked.

Your ATK Points > Opponent's DEF Points

When the ATK Points of your monster are greater than the DEF Points of the monster you're attacking, the monster you're attacking is destroyed. There is no effect on the Life Points of you or your opponent.

Your ATK Points = Opponent's DEF Points

When the ATK Points of your monster are equal to the DEF Points of the monster you're attacking, neither monster is affected. There is no effect on the Life Points of you or your opponent.

Your ATK Points < Opponent's DEF Points

When the ATK Points of your monster are less than the DEF Points of the monster you're attacking, neither monster is affected. However, the difference between the ATTACK and DEF Points is subtracted from your Life Points.

■ Opponent Has No Monsters

When your opponent has no monsters in the Monster Card Zone, your monster attacks your opponent directly. The ATK Points of your attacking monster are subtracted from the Life Points of your opponent.

SUMMONING MONSTERS

You can summon monsters in 3 different ways: Normal Summon in which the monster is summoned in ATTACK position, Flip Summon in which a monster face-down in DEFENSE position is flipped face-up to ATTACK position and Special Summon in which the monster is summoned with the effects of a Magic Card. High-level monsters are summoned in accordance with the Tribute Summon rules.

■ Tribute Summon

In order to summon a monster that is level 5 or higher, you must offer (send to the Graveyard) one or more monsters on the field. This is referred to as a Tribute Summon.

Level 5 or 6 monsters require offering 1 monster as tribute. Level 7 or higher monsters require offering 2 monsters.

A Tribute Summon is treated just like a Normal Summon, so you cannot use a Tribute Summon if you have already summoned a monster to the field during a turn. You do not need to offer any monsters to bring back a level 5 or higher monster with "Monster Reborn".

■ Special Summon

Special Summon refers to the summoning of monsters with Magic Cards like Fusion, Ritual and "Monster Reborn" as well as with Effect Monsters.

As long as you meet the fixed conditions for a specific monster, you can use Special Summon as many times as you want during the same turn. A Special Summon isn't treated the same way as a Normal Summon, so you can also use a Normal Summon (or Tribute Summon) during the same turn.

▼ Fusion

The Fusion rule allows you to summon a monster using 2 or more of your Monster Cards and the Magic Card "Polymerization". Fusion is successful if 2 or more of the required Fusion-Material monsters are on the field or in your hand when you use "Polymerization". The monsters required as fusion material are listed on each of the Fusion Monster Cards.

Fusion monsters come from the Fusion Deck, go to the Graveyard when destroyed and return to the Fusion Deck if returned to your hand. Since Fusion monsters are summoned with a Special Summon, traps like "Trap Hole" have no effect on them.

The following steps outline how to perform Fusion.

- ① With the Fusion-Material monsters A and B either on the field or in your hand, play the Magic Card "Polymerization" in the Magic & Trap Card Zone.
- ② The Fusion Monster C, created from the Fusion-Material monsters A and B, is placed in the Monster Card Zone from the Fusion Deck. The Fusion Deck, which consists of only Fusion Monsters, is separate from the Main Deck and is placed in the Fusion Deck Zone on the field.
- ③ Monsters A and B, those that were used in the fusion, and the Magic Card "Polymerization" are all sent to the Graveyard.

▼ Rituals

Unlike the Normal Summon used to summon Normal Monsters, Ritual Monster Cards are summoned with a special process.

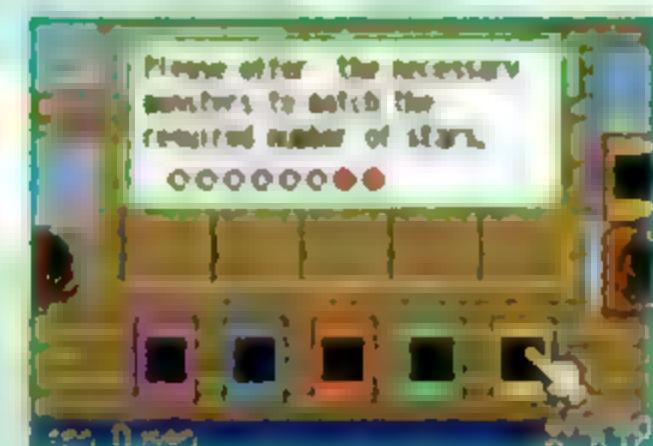

To summon a Ritual Monster you will need the designated Ritual Magic Card for that monster and monsters to offer. The sum of the stars (level) on the Monster Cards you offer for tribute must equal the number of stars on the Ritual Monster Card. Since Ritual monsters are summoned with a Special Summon, traps like "Trap Hole" have no effect on them.

The following steps outline how to perform a Ritual Summon using "Dokurorider" (Level 6) as the example.

- ① With the "Dokurorider" card in your hand and enough monsters for tribute on the field or in your hand to meet the 6 stars sum (see above), play the "Revival of Dokurorider" Magic Card in the Magic & Trap Zone on the field.
- ② Sacrifice as many monsters on the field or in your hand as needed to reach a sum of 6 or more stars.
- ③ The "Revival of Dokurorider" card and the monsters you offered are all sent to the Graveyard and the "Dokurorider" is placed on the field.

Selecting Monsters for Ritual Tributes

Note: You cannot select a level 1 and then a level 6 monster when selecting monsters to offer for a level 6 Ritual Monster. For the second monster being offered, you cannot offer a monster that already has enough stars to meet the requirements.

▼ Special Summon from the Graveyard

Monsters in the Graveyard can be brought back to the field using the effects of Magic Cards like "Monster Reborn" and "Premature Burial". Since these monsters are summoned with a Special Summon, traps like "Trap Hole" have no effect on them.

Fusion and Ritual Monsters that were sent directly from your hand or your Main Deck to the Graveyard cannot be summoned with the types of Magic Cards mentioned above. However, this does not apply to Fusion and Ritual monsters that were properly summoned to the field before being sent to the Graveyard after an attack or through some magic effect. They can be brought back with a card like "Monster Reborn".

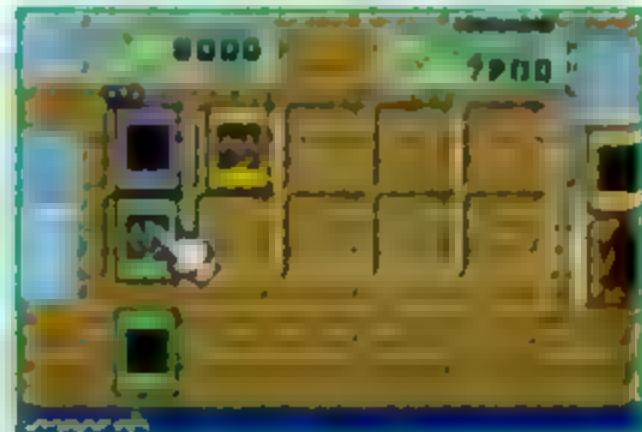

MAGIC & EFFECT MONSTERS

Equip Magic Cards

Equip Magic Cards, which make monsters stronger, can only be used with the monster designated on the card. The cards can only be used when the monster is face-up in ATTACK position. The card remains on the field after use, but if the monster equipped by the card is destroyed, the Equip Magic Card is sent to the Graveyard.

Move the cursor over the Equip Magic Card(s) or the Monster Card being equipped to display the equipment for that monster.

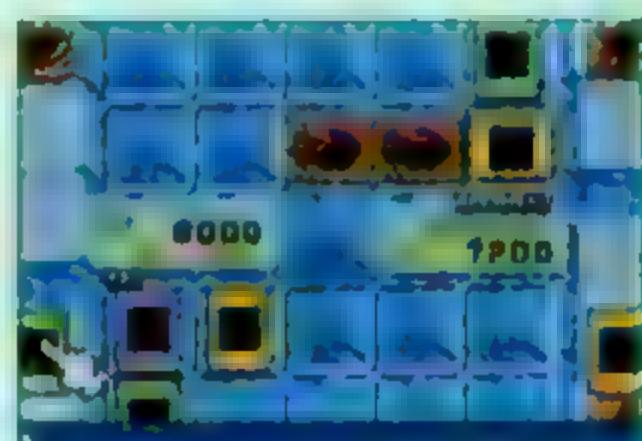

Field Magic Cards

These cards can change the terrain of the field. Depending on the type and attribute of a monster, the new terrain may put the monster at an advantage or at a disadvantage. This is how changes in the terrain can affect a monster's abilities.

There can only be one Field Magic Card on the entire duel field in play at a time.

When another Field Magic Card is played, its effect is activated immediately. The previous Field Magic Card is sent to the Graveyard. If a Field Magic Card in play is destroyed, the terrain returns to the way it was at the start of the game.

■ Flip Effects

Effect Monsters are monsters that have magic-like effects. There are various types of effects, but the 'Flip Effect' can only be activated in certain conditions.

The effects of a Flip Effect Monster are activated when a card placed face-down on the field is flipped face-up through some indirect action. For instance, a monster is flipped when attacked or as a result of magic or some other effect (flip-effects would be activated with a card like "Swords of Revealing Light", but not with "Raigeki" since the Monster Card is destroyed without being flipped over).

You can also activate Flip Effects in the following way:

- ① Set the Flip Effect Monster on the field in face-down DEFENSE position.
- ② Since you can't change the position of a card in the same turn you summoned it, perform a Flip Summon during your next turn to activate the effect.

CARD DESTINATIONS

Battles and the effects of magic or traps send cards to various destinations during a duel. The card type and the duel event influence the final destination where the card is sent.

■ Monster Cards

Monster Cards destroyed in battle are sent to the Graveyard. When sent to your hand or Main Deck, Monster Cards are returned to your hand or Main Deck respectively. When Fusion Monster Cards are sent to your hand, they are returned to the Fusion Deck and not your hand.

▼ Eliminated from the Duel

When the effects of magic or Trap Cards eliminate a Monster Card from a duel, the card is sent to the Eliminated Card Zone and can no longer be used in the duel.

▼ Controlled by Opponent

If your opponent takes control of one of your Monster Cards with "Monster Reborn" or "Change of Heart" and it is destroyed, the card is sent to your Graveyard. If the card is sent to your hand or Main Deck, it is returned to your hand or Main Deck respectively.

■ Magic/Trap Cards

If the card is not a continuous card, it is sent to the Graveyard after its effect is activated. If the card is destroyed through the effects of a Magic or Trap Card, it is sent to the Graveyard. If the card is sent to your hand, it is returned to your hand. If eliminated from the duel, it is sent to the Eliminated Card Zone.

INTRODUCTION TO CHAINS

It can be very difficult to determine the outcome of a complicated battle when several Magic or Trap Cards are played. The Chain rule was developed to make it easier to determine the outcomes of such battles.

■ Chain Play

Let's assume that Duelist 1 plays a Magic Card. That magic is placed in a BLOCK called CHAIN 1. If Duelist 2 plays a Magic or Trap Card in response to the initial Magic, it is then placed in the CHAIN 2 BLOCK. As the Duelists respond to the other's plays, the BLOCKS are stacked on top of one another. When both Duelists are unable to play any further cards, the effects of the Magic and Trap Cards are sorted out beginning with the top BLOCK or the final CHAIN.

Here's how it would work in an actual game.

- ① Your opponent plays a Magic Card. This becomes "CHAIN 1" and is placed in BLOCK 1.
- ② If you have a card that can be played in response to your opponent's Magic Card, the message "Resolve it as part of a chain?" is displayed on the screen. Select "YES" to start a CHAIN and play your card. This card becomes "CHAIN 2" and is placed in BLOCK 2. The CHAIN is displayed on the screen so that both you and your opponent can see the cards in the CHAIN.

CHAINS

- ③ Both you and your opponent continue to play in response to each other's cards until neither of you is able to continue. The effects of the Magic and Trap Cards are then processed starting with the last card played.

Chain Structure

Blocks are stacked in the order in which the effects are activated. The game processes the effects of the cards starting with those from the last card played.

MAGIC, TRAP & EFFECT SPEEDS

Magic, Trap and Effect Monster Cards all have speed settings. To create or continue a Chain, the card must have a speed setting greater than the previous card played.

■ Spell Speed 1

Spell speed 1 cards are the slowest. These cards can never be played in BLOCK 2 of a chain. They are the only cards that cannot be played in response to a Magic, Trap or Effect Monster Card of the same speed.

Spell Speed 1 Cards

- Normal Magic
- Equip Magic
- Field Magic
- Effect Monster (Continuous, Cost, Trigger, Flip)

■ Spell Speed 2

Spell speed 2 cards can be played in response to spell speed 1 and 2 cards.

Spell Speed 2 Cards

- Quick-Play Magic
- Normal Trap
- Effects Monster (Trigger, Multi-Trigger)

CHAINS

■ Spell Speed 3

Spell speed 3 cards can be played in response to cards of any spell speed. The only cards that can be played in response to these cards are other spell speed 3 cards.

Spell Speed 3 Cards

- Counter Trap

Blocks in a chain can be stacked as long as the duelists can play cards with the necessary spell speed.

■ Chain Exceptions

Two copies of the following cards cannot be stacked together in a chain since their effects would loop endlessly.

① Cards that Cannot Be Stacked in Chains

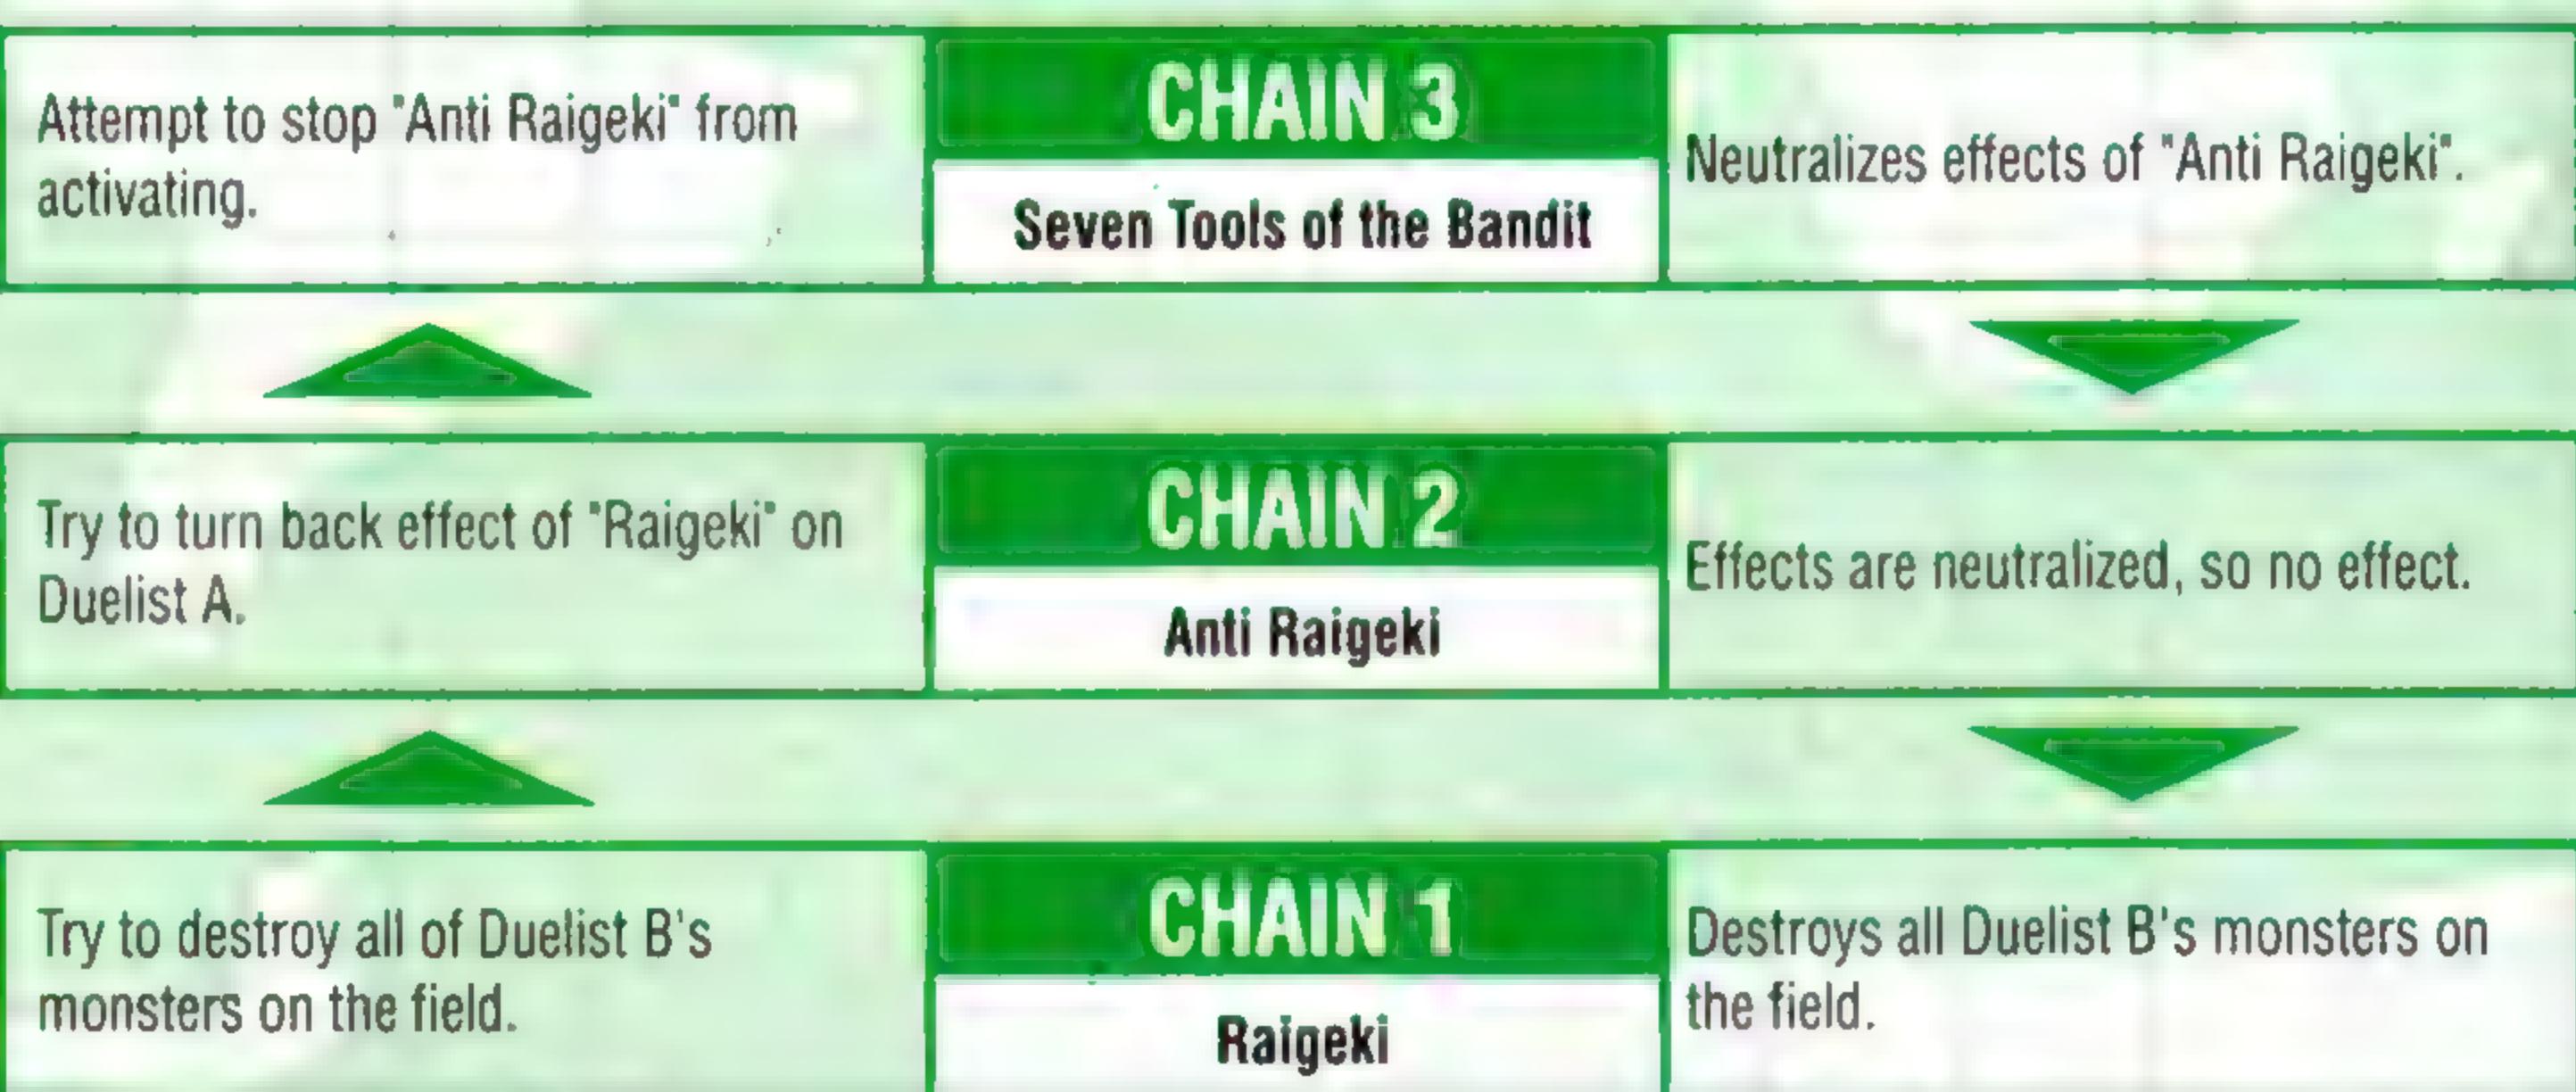

- Forced Requisition
- Jam Defender
- Appropriate
- Ultimate Offering

EXAMPLE CHAIN

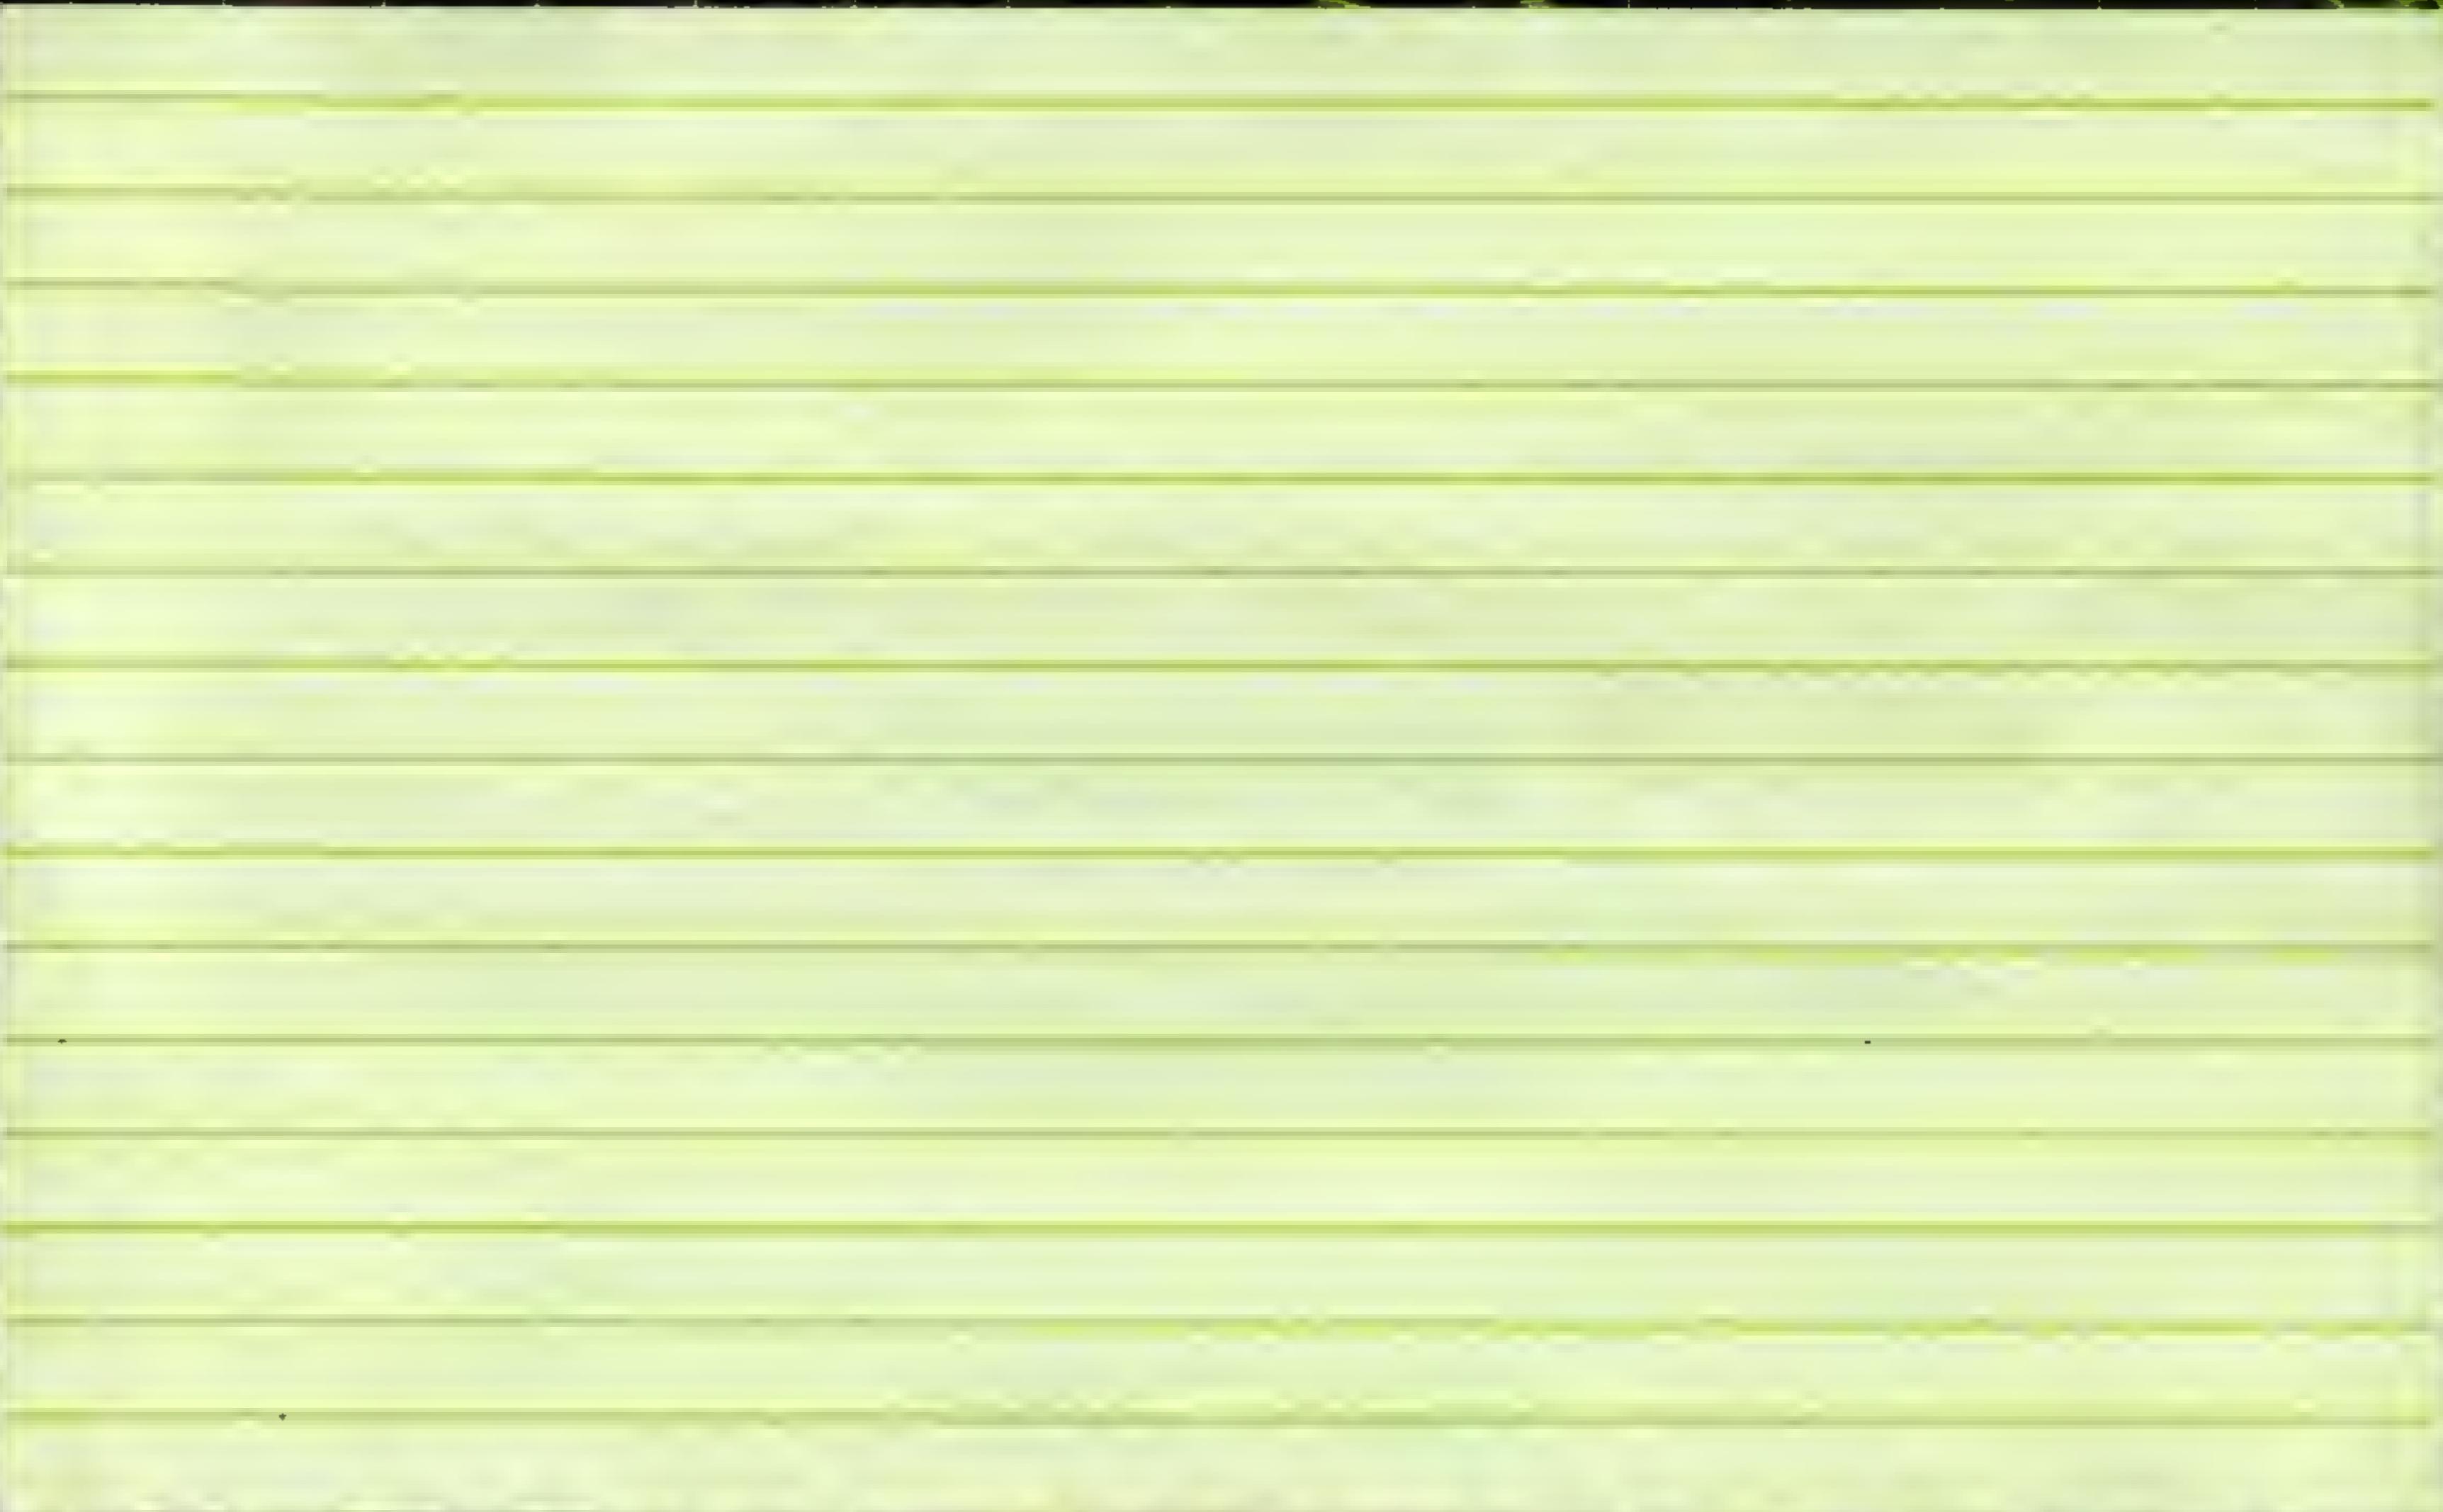

Let's take a look at how the outcome of an actual chain is determined.

Chain Stacking and Processing

Duelist A tries to destroy all his opponent's monsters on the field by playing "Raigeki". In response, Duelist B plays "Anti Raigeki". Duelist A then counters by playing "Seven Tools of the Bandit". The end result of this chain is that all of Duelist B's monsters on the field are destroyed. Here's why. The effect of "Seven Tools of the Bandit" nullifies the effects of "Anti Raigeki". Since "Anti Raigeki" was never activated, "Raigeki" is activated thus destroying all of Duelist B's monsters on the field.
